top of the weekly wishlist: clean cawwfee

This week's wish was sparked by a series of flashing lights on our coffee machine, not to mention an unhappy spout that refused to do more than dribble... with the MetaBroadcasts running almost exclusively on a caffeine/chocolate biscuits combo this close to Christmas it was clear a crisis was imminent...

countdown to caffeine

Unfortunately, the only way I could resolve this was to power down the enterprise beverage facility staple and pull it apart... What greeted me? Well, suffice to say it was Filthy in fact. Within an hour I had scraped, scrubbed, soaked, wiped and polished every inch of every available surface. Now normal service has resumed, the office is once again awash with happy MetaKitties...
